Dedication

The Hi-Jacket staff of 1947 is particularly happy to dedicate its yearbook to a person whose benignant spirit, sincere devotion, and loyal service to the school and to the students have endeared her to all of us. She has been ever gracious in assisting us in our struggles and meticulous moments through our school life.

Therefore, it is with great pleasure and pride that we dedicate the Hi-Jacket of 1947 to Mrs. Lucille Stone.

Mrs. Lucille Stone

Foreword . . .

The Hi-Jacket of 1947 presents its earnest efforts to assemble in pictorial form the well-loved and remembered faces along with short sketches of activities which make our school days the happy, inspirational times they have been.

This portrayal of our school life has been made possible through the untiring efforts and cooperation of our faculty, parents, and students.

This book is our school life, the life of our school activities. May it further endear to us the high ideals for which our Alma Mater stands.

To Our Parents

As we, the members of the Senior Class of 1947, go forth to share in the productive service of society, we pause to pay tribute to those who have made possible our being, who have sacrificed that we might have the light of education. To them we are a reward for their having lived. To them we now dedicate our individual and personal achievements.

MANASSAS PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Bennett Elementary School

Osbourne High School

Manassas State Vocational School

Mr. Kelso came to us in March of this school year from the public schools in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Although he has been head of our staff for a very short time, he has shown himself to be progressive and forward-thinking, and under his leadership we are sure that the Manassas Public Schools will continue to be one of the best school systems in the state.

MISS CARRIE LANFORD, ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

As acting principal for the greater part of this year, Miss Lanford has won our admiration for her leadership ability, her understanding, and her friendliness.

Receiving our diplomas is an unforgettable climax to our four years at Osbourn High School, but there are many other memories of this year which each of us will always hold dear.

Socially, what a grand and glorious time we had—at the Halloween Coronation, at the Senior Play, at the Talent Show, and, of course, the Juniors fairly outdid themselves in honoring us at the Prom — and how we loved it!

Now we must leave you Osbourn High School. Your lovely campus, your class rooms, and your faculty we shall never forget. As we bid farewell to one and all, may we voice the heartfelt wish that the principles and ideals instilled in us at this school may reflect at all times the spirit of our Alma Mater.

Manassas State Vocational School

The Manassas State Vocational School was established in 1944 by the State Board of Education and offers the opportunity for intensive training in various branches of vocational education. It is designed primarily to meet the needs of training beyond the high school level for the youth who prefers technical training to professional college training, but at present the school supplements the offering of high schools by making its services available to any student in any high school in Virginia, but particularly Northern Virginia, when in the judgment of the local school administration, such services would be of value to the individual student.

The school has been approved by the Veteran's Administration for the training of veterans, and many former servicemen are enrolled. Two large dormitories offer living accommodations and a cafeteria provides meals.

Academic classes are offered through Osbourn High School. Consequently, many of our students are at the vocational school for three hours and in Osbourn for three each day. School buses follow regular schedules between the two schools.

During the past year the following courses were offered at the Manassas State Vocational School: Automobile Mechanics, Carpentry and Woodworking, Commercial and Applied Art, Cosmetology, Drafting, Electricity, Machine Shop, Office Practice, Practical Nursing, Radio, Refrigeration, and Welding (Arc).

The Vocational School football team was organized this year under the direction of Mr. Saunders. Composed entirely of veterans and handicapped by a lack of substitutes the team's season was not very victorious, but it achieved its moment of glory by defeating a highly-favored Osbourn High eleven in a Thanksgiving Day game played on the local field.

The election for student president in the Spring of 1946 was without the usual vigorous campaign, since no one chose to run against the very popular Bo Williams.

Bo's platform contained many sound and constructive planks and in the opinion of the student body and faculty this has been one of the most successful years in the history of student government in Osbourn High School, due to the capable leadership of Bo Williams.

Under his administration the much-needed warm-up jackets for the athletic teams have been purchased and arrived early in the season. Drinking fountains were installed in the gymnasium and football and basketball games were made more enjoyable by the sale of printed programs; a supply store was opened, under the auspices of the Honor Society, and now students are able to purchase such items as pencils, paper and ink right here in school. Our Gold Star servicemen will be remembered with a plaque in the auditorium, and plans are being made for the installation of a public telephone in the school. Plans are also underway for a county federation of the student government associations.

In November a group of students, with Miss Smith, the Faculty Adviser, attended a state convention in Richmond at which Bo Williams, as Vice President of the Virginia Student Cooperative Association, assisted in presiding.

It has been a year we shall remember.

SENATE

In Tuesday activities the six senators donned their dignified appearance and amid whispers of the passer-by annexed to their chamber in the chemistry lab. Joined by the six officers of the student government, they seated themselves around the table in their appointed places, all composed and prepared to do their best in judging offenses of fellow students where there be a slight infraction of rules or an offense of a serious nature. Business was carried on in a free manner and not all of our meetings were of a serious nature. We served on the senate believing it an integral part of school life, for its success kept the status of student right respected and safe.

Despite the numerous matters claiming their attention, the committee chairmen and class presidents found time on alternate Tuesdays to work enthusiastically and constantly on various and sundry matters during council meetings. The Talent Show provided the first chance for 100 percent participation by the Council and was handled superiorly as were the other activities. Following the belief that the greatest personal liberty lies in self-government and the education of the student honor, the council functioned well.

Building Committee

Do you know why our building has been kept so clean this year? It's because we have had a hard-working buildings committee. They've dusted the auditorium and class rooms every day; the rest rooms have been given daily attention with new equipment supplied where needed and have operated the sale of "nick-nacks" in school. Here are the students who, with the help of the janitor in keeping the floors and windows clean, have made Osbourn High School seem like our own tidy homes. The building committee was under the chairmanship of Shirley Saylor, with Miss Faulconer as faculty adviser.

Grounds Committee

Standing: Robert Roof, chairman, Dan Shields, Leon Kline, Jackie Bryant, Johnnie Breeden.

Sitting: Gene White, Bobby Johnson, Henry Utterback.

The boys that carry the trash cans around in their hands and busily bend about picking up papers and other pieces of trash off the grounds are the ones that have made Osbourn High School proud of its surroundings. The good work done by the grounds committee in keeping the grounds in good condition and taking care of the parking situation for those who drive cars to school was under the direction of Robert Roof, with Mr. Bennett assisting as faculty adviser.

Extra Curricular Activities Committee

When we have long been graduated from High School, what tender memories will creep back when we hear "To Each His Own", or "Heartaches"? Perhaps it will be a radio dance, or maybe just a scene at lunch that our minds will see. And who cooked up all those memories with a new radio and a lot of new popular records? The Extra Curricular Committee, of course. The committee was under the chairmanship of John Wood, with Miss Smith always on the job as faculty adviser. They've done a grand job with the help of several representatives selected by the chairman. It's also their job to plan the assemblies and special programs, which Katherine Wheeler and her committee had charge of. Our memories will always lean toward those who planned a good time for all of us.

Our students are healthy! They never ail very often and when they do, the health committee immediately takes action. The school has a health room, which is equipped with the necessary equipment to render first-aid to students who are sick. Viola Ritenour acts as chairman of this committee and each member of the Health Committee is assigned one week's duty in the health room for the purpose of getting medicine for the patients who are sick and need medical attention. The Health Committee renders their generous service to those who are ill while at school, and is always present in time of accidents. Mrs. McManaway, who has had more experience in the medical field, is faculty adviser of the committee.

Publicity Committee

You should be on the Publicity Committee. They print the posters and trim them with a fancy drawing for all the football games, basketball games, baseball and softball games, and any other student activity held at the school. The committee of four students sponsor the school paper and the yearbook. The editors of both publications, with two assistants, make up the Publicity Committee of the school. Orrin Kline is chairman of the committee, with Mrs. Stone as adviser of the committee and the two publications. Develop your printing, drawing, ability to write, and assume the responsibility of being the editor of one of the publications. It's a lot of fun, along with a lot of hard work.

Standing: Orrin Kline, Oliver, Mrs. Stone, Worth Peters, Paul Muse.

Seated: Margaret Simpson.

Bonds and Stamp Committee

Seated: Mary Weber, Miss Johnson, Adviser, Joyce Shiflet, Barbara Lymburner, Barbara Bell, Eleanor Bryant, Doris Colbert.

Standing: Jackie Saylor, Betty Fox, Dulany Tyler, Carolyn Cooksey, Jimmy Wood.

If you like the taste of "slickum" and you want to repaper your room in green, blue, red or purple, just buy war stamps and stick 'em up. All kidding aside though, smart people have been making themselves a rosy future by doing business with the Bonds and Stamps Committee. All through the year this committee has had a regular stamp day for the student's benefit.

For many years the Yellow Jacket has been a vital part of Osbourn High School. We got off to a fine start in September. The paper was being printed locally again, which eased our printing problems quite a bit; our staff was enthusiastic and our patrons were very liberal. At Christmas time we were all saddened by the death of our editor, Worth Peters, Jr. Following the progressive pattern and leadership of Worth, Paul Muse took over the duties of editor.

We have had lots of work and many little worries in publishing the Yellow Jacket but the eager anticipation of the students on publication day and the enjoyment they showed in reading the paper has more than compensated for our work and time.

One of the highest honors in school is membership in the National Honor Society, which was established in this school in 1941 under the sponsorship of Mr. Peters. Its purpose is to give recognition to the students who have excelled along the lines of the four cardinal principles of the society: Character, Leadership, Scholarship, and Service, and to encourage among students in the high school the attainment of these principles.

The emblem of the National Honor Society is the keystone and flaming torch symbolizing the high ideals for which it stands, and the members wear it proudly.

The Honor Society installation service is one of the most impressive of our assembly programs. This year, also, the Honor Society has managed the Supply Store in the auditorium.

Library Council . . .

Composed of voluntary workers, the members of the Library Council perform many of the routine duties of the library. Charging books, keeping records, shelving and locating books, and helping with the displays usually keep these girls busy several hours each week.

The Council's chief activity of the year is the annual observance of Book Week in November. This year the Council entertained for its Book Week guest, Rev. J. J. Kortendick, Director of the Department of Library Science at Catholic University. A Book Week assembly featured the Annual Book Week Parade in which home rooms and organizations participated.

A dime for this, a quarter for that and the result is that we are usually broke, but come to think of it that is not much to pay for making someone happy.

The Junior Red Cross causes many a sad little face to smile again by its Christmas gift boxes to Europe and to the less fortunate ones in our own town. A program at the Home of the Aged is also on the calendar.

Practically all students in school joined the Junior Red Cross during the big campaign in the Fall. Each room sends representatives to the meetings.

Commercial Club . . .

"A comfortable air-conditioned office, hours 8 to 5, good pay and chance for advancement"—sounds like an ad, doesn't it? But, those are only a few of the things those Commercial Club members are headed for.

To be eligible for membership, one must be taking three Commercial subjects. And in case you are wondering who always mimeographs those programs, forms, and lovely exam papers—just join the Commercial Club and find out!

The audience is hushed, the house lights are dimmed, and the curtain rises on the first act of Broadway's top play of the season presenting former members of Osbourn's Dramatics Club—well, we can dream, can't we?

Who knows? Maybe someone will take the experience gained in the Dramatics Club, mix it with further training, add a dash of individuality, and make that dream a reality.

The annual Christmas play and the P.-T.A. play were two of the club's presentations.

Here are the girls who will make our American homes what they should be. The Future Homemakers Club of Osbourn High School is affiliated with the State and National Federations and so far have attended two meetings this year. Martha Keziah was elected Vice President of the State Federation of Future Homemakers in 1946. During the year, they attend district meetings to learn what other home-makers are doing and how they carry on their work. Some of the club's special work is making Red Cross kits and assisting with banquets and dinner, both in school and in town.

Science Club . . .

If you happen to be standing in the hall and see one dash by carrying a bottled insect, you instantly arrive at the conclusion that he is headed for the Science Club meeting. During the past year this club has discussed birds, insects, and flowers and how they live. In order to become a member of this club each person was asked to bring ten wild flowers and identify them. Soon after the club was organized, the members enjoyed a picnic out in the country where they also observed "Mother Nature."

It was the influence of the Manassas Chapter of the Future Farmers of America that led to the high honor bestowed upon Bert Roseberry when he was elected President of the Future Farmers of America in Northern Virginia this year. The organization is a non-profit, non-political farm youth assembly of voluntary membership, which is designed to take its place along with other agencies striving for development of leadership, the building of a more permanent agriculture, and the improvement of country life. It constitutes one of the most efficient agricultural teaching devices that has been discovered up to the present time. The F. F. A. is 100 percent American in its ideals, and outlook and has no outside affiliations. There is no secrecy in connection with any of its activities.

The quality of good sportsmanship can best be exemplified through athletics. In an effort to carry out this central theme, the Athletic Association was a veritable beehive this year. Each sport brought renewed concentration along with active participation by members of the Athletic Association.

Any day might find us in the gym or on the athletic field, but most Fridays we engaged in inter-high competition of every sport. Programs and refreshments were made a realization and the cheer leaders carried on their excellent work.

The Athletic Association brought its activities to a successful climax with its annual banquet.

Football . . .

THE YELLOW JACKETS

Captain, Eddie Batchelet; Conners, Wood, Beale, Harris, Jacobs, Vetter, Christensen, Williams, Beane, Roseberry, and Sinclair.

The 1946 football season may be called the hardest as well as the greatest that an Osbourn team has ever undergone. Around the first of September the call for football material was sounded and in answer there came many voices, among them were those of fourteen letter men. There were losses from the previous graduation which, though hard to bear, had to be remedied as much as possible before actual competition began. To this task Coach "Jim" Leo set himself and by so doing accomplished that for which he sought, namely, a remarkable team which had not only speed but also strength and power. Imagine beginning a three-month's grind with teams like Front Royal, James Monroe, Washington-Lee and Charles Town staring you in the face. It was enough to cause the strongest heart to quake and tremble, but not so with Captain "Eddie" Batschelet and his team-mates; they went to work with a will and the results you may read below:

Track . . .

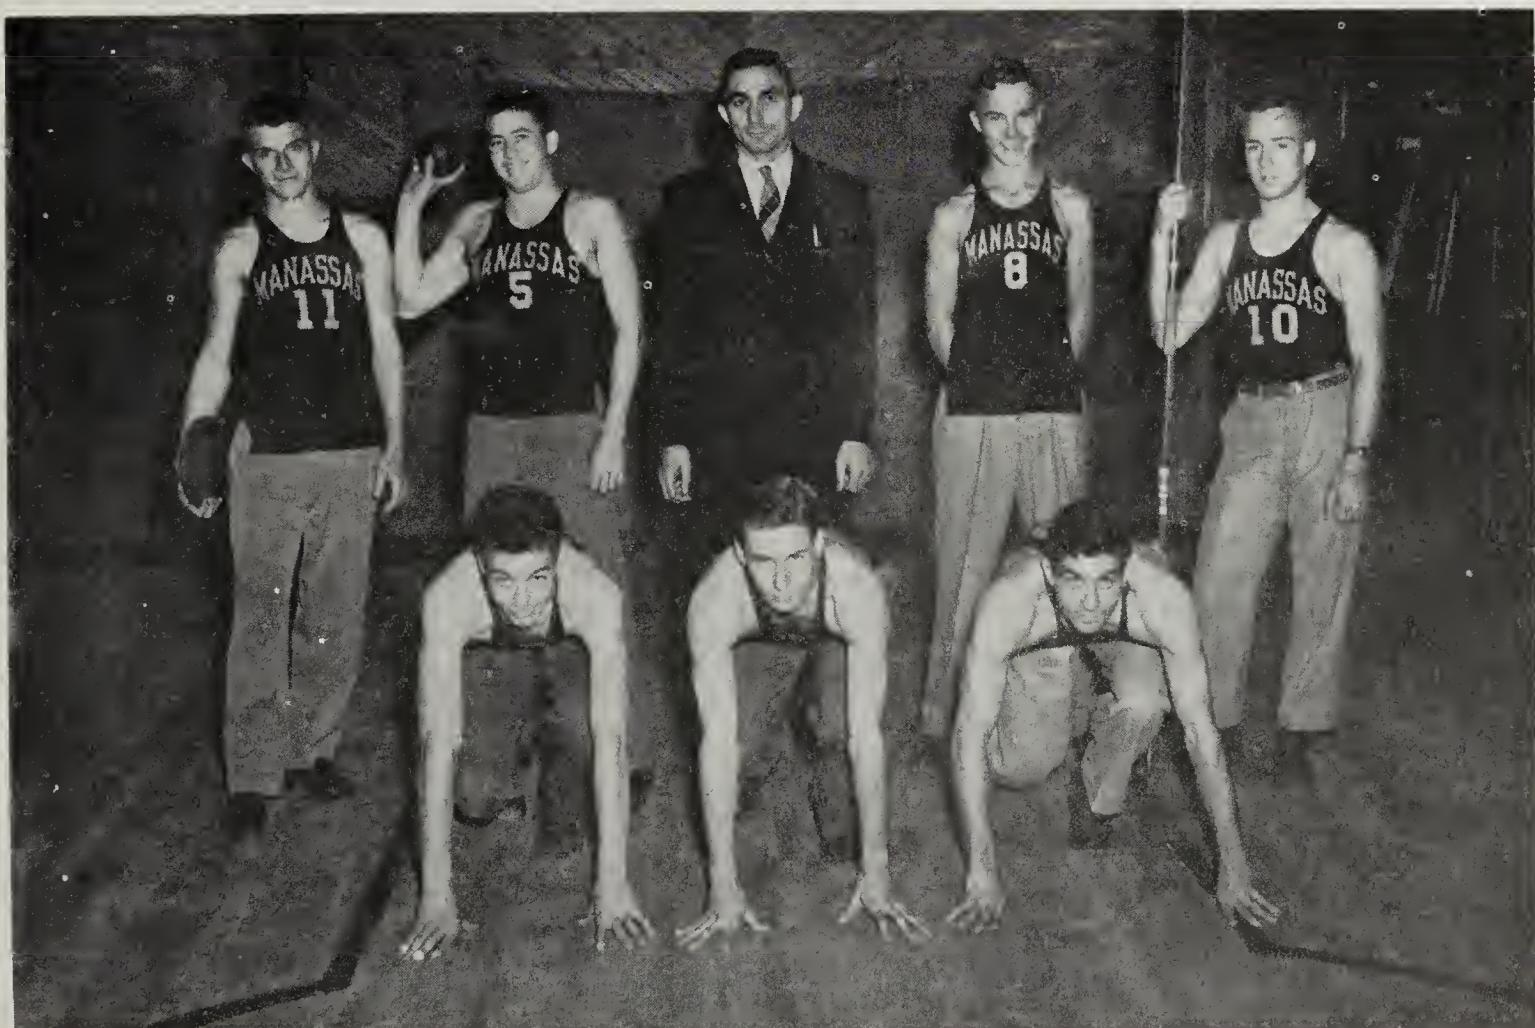

Although somewhat handicapped by the loss of several stars graduated in 1945, the track team started Winter training with an effort to maintain the splendid record held by this sport. The problem of replacing Alvey and Round was the hardest of all, but, as the season progressed, men were found to fill their shoes.

When the team left for the State Relays, their chances for success were anticipated to be only moderate, but by the end of the meet numerous individual places had been annexed by the Osbourn tracksters. Stickel in the javelin, and Conners in the shot-put were tops in their fields. And supported by able men in all other fields the track squad of 1946 left to us a grand record.

With such an array of prospects to replace the men lost by graduation, Coach Leo should build a powerful aggregation to represent Osbourn this Spring.

First Row: Tommy Beane, Worth Peters, David Harris.

Second Row: Durwood Grubbs, John Wood, Mr. Leo, Oliver Dashiell, Bobby Stickel.

Boys' Basketball . . .

First Row: Armistead Sinclair, Callie Stipe, Moss Jacobs, Stewart Vetter, Coach Leo, Bobby Lymburner, Worth Peters, Bo Williams.

Second Row: Jackie Saylor, David Harris, John Wood, Dan Shields, John Doggett, Rembert Parler, Durwood Grubbs, Eddie Daffan, Tommy Dean, Jessie Reid.

When the final whistle blew March 7th, it found Osbourn on the upper end of a score against a strong Occoquan team. This game marked the ninth win for the Osbourn quintet out of fourteen starts, which is undoubtedly the finest record an M.H.S. basketball team has made for many years.

Coach Leo started the season with a wealth of material from the upper classes. Several combinations were tried before a team was picked as the best. With Jacobs at center, Vetter and Williams as forwards, and Harris and Lymburner filling the guard post, the Osbourn team was a high scoring machine. Never have the floor plays worked as they did this year.

Mt. Vernon, Warrenton, Culpeper and Falmouth each came and saw, but against this fast, clever, and hard-fighting Osbourn team they could do nothing. These teams gave Osbourn their chance to attend the State Tournament. So came the trip to Ashland and games at Randolph-Macon against Manchester and Glenn Allen. Manchester, the tournament favorite, was upset by the Osbourn five, 40 to 38. However, Glenn Allen turned the tables by defeating Osbourn in the semi-finals. Thus ended the season of 1946-47 with an unforgettable record . . .

Girls' Basketball . . .

Although our girls were able to capture only one game in the win and loss column this year they were successful in other aspects. For this was a year in which the varsity was dependent upon inexperienced but willing candidates. Many of the games were close and many were lost by large margins, but just the same they were all played in true sportsmanship style. If the teams in the years to come have only half as much fun and fire spirit as the team of 1947 did, they may be entirely satisfied with their accomplishments.

Second Row: Mr. Leo, Jackie Saylor, David Harris, John Wood, Dan Shields, Robert Stickel, Bill Thomasson, Henry Utterback.

Baseball was by far the most popular of the Spring sports with the "Osbournites." With a yearly infield that worked smoothly at all times, the team started right out on the best season Osbourn has had in many years. Some real material was found in the first few practices, and such pitchers as Utterback, Harris, Jacobs, will be valuable additions to this year's staff for the big nine.

The schedule laid out was a light one, but the Osbourn nine came through it very creditably considering the handicaps under which they had to practice.

Softball . . .

Softball will offer the girls of M.H.S. a real chance to redeem themselves in the field of sports. Again they will have the reliable service of their veteran coach, Miss Broaddus, and a wealth of experienced material. Last year's team served as one of the greatest powerhouses of the diamond and it is believed all in all, prospects are bright for a winning combination in 1947.

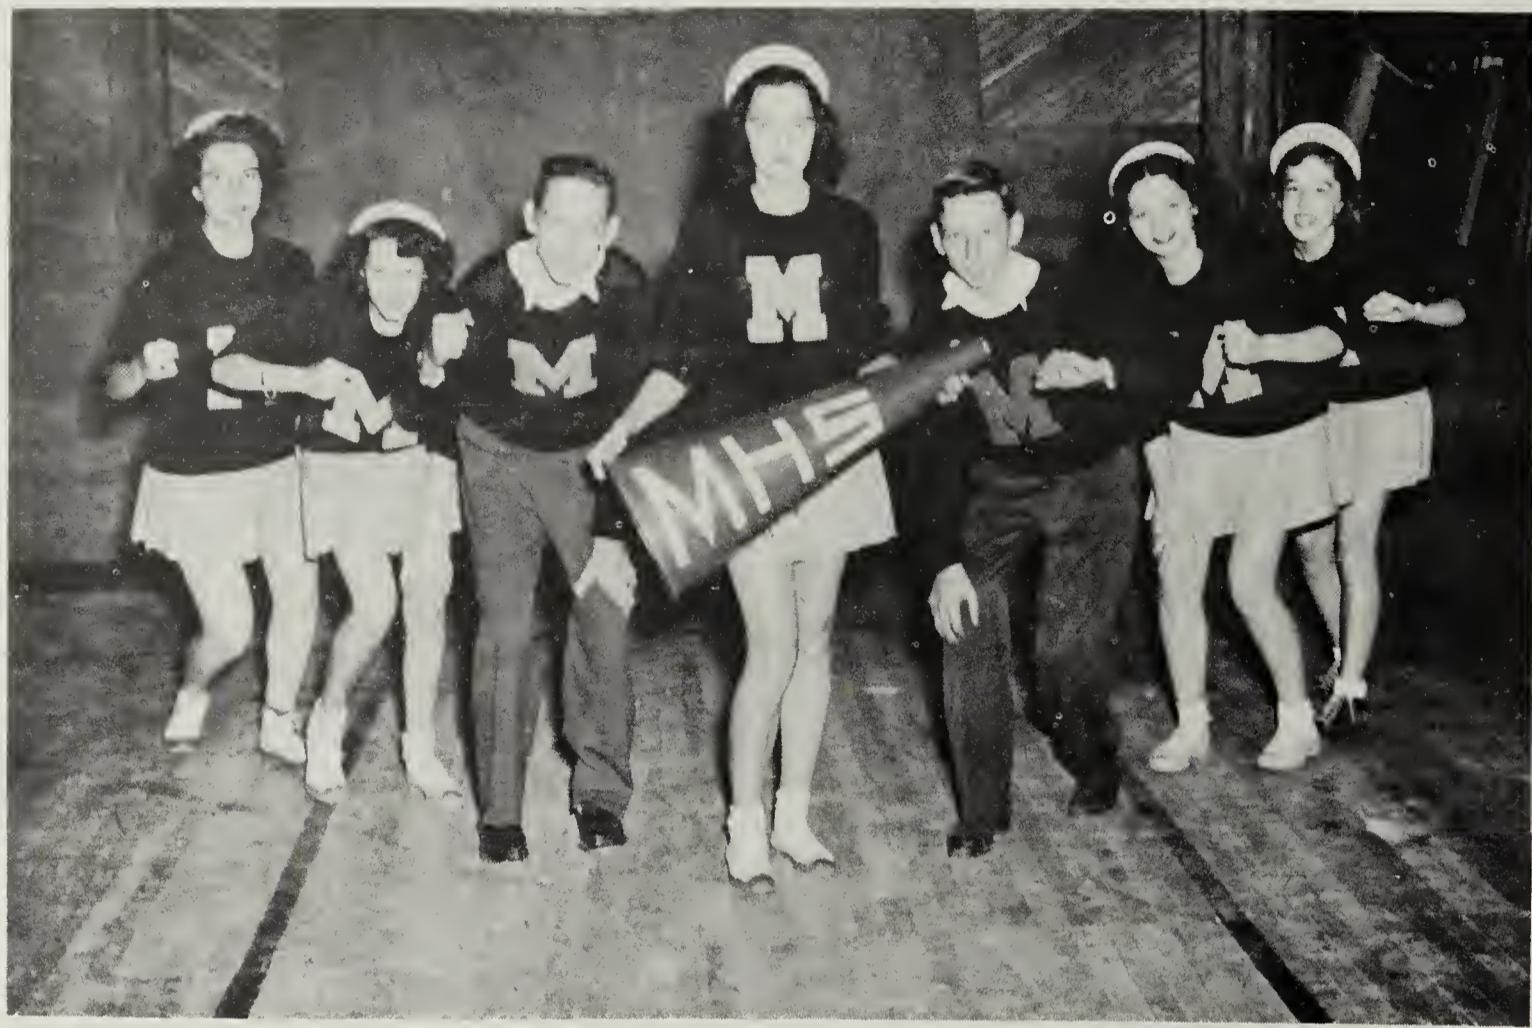

First Row: Shirley Saylor, Barbara Jones, Vera Merchant, Betty Breeden, Jean Mayhugh, Anna Belle Landis, Gem Parler, Marion Davis, Kittie Dogan.

Second Row: Emily Speaks, Betty Fox, Carolyn Cooksey, Mary Blakemore, Mary Dellinger, Sara Lightner, Millie Caton, Mary Wood, Lois Woodyard, Norma Wayland, Nancy Golladay.

FEATURES

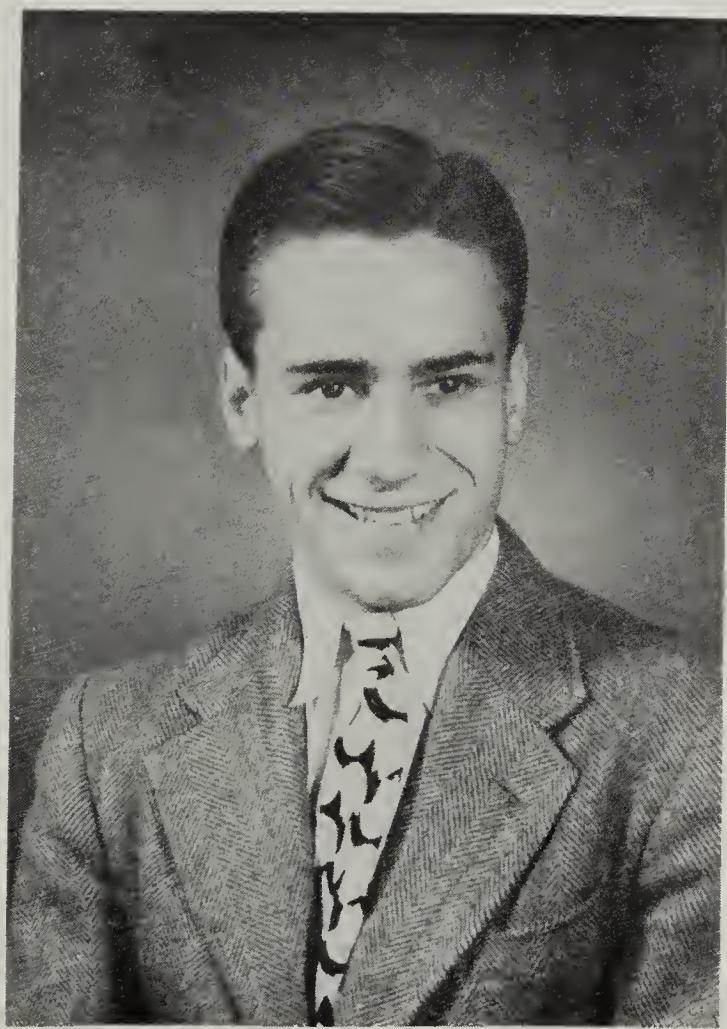

Outstanding Seniors

When, in reminiscent mood, we think back upon the past year of our school life, we feel that certain students of the Senior Class of 1947 have won for themselves a secure place in our hearts as well as in the annals of the school. That these students have made our school life more colorful, more vital, more joyous, we all agreed. Besides this, each of these, our classmates, is outstanding in his own right. In general or in particular, they may be praised for their dependability, their good sportsmanship, their leadership, their scholastic attainment and for their charm, but all of them have, in common, loyalty and love for Osbourn High School, our Alma Mater.

School Life

We cheerfully left the bus and, eager to be in class, rushed into the building. Rose Shiflet and Paul Harvey are no exception.

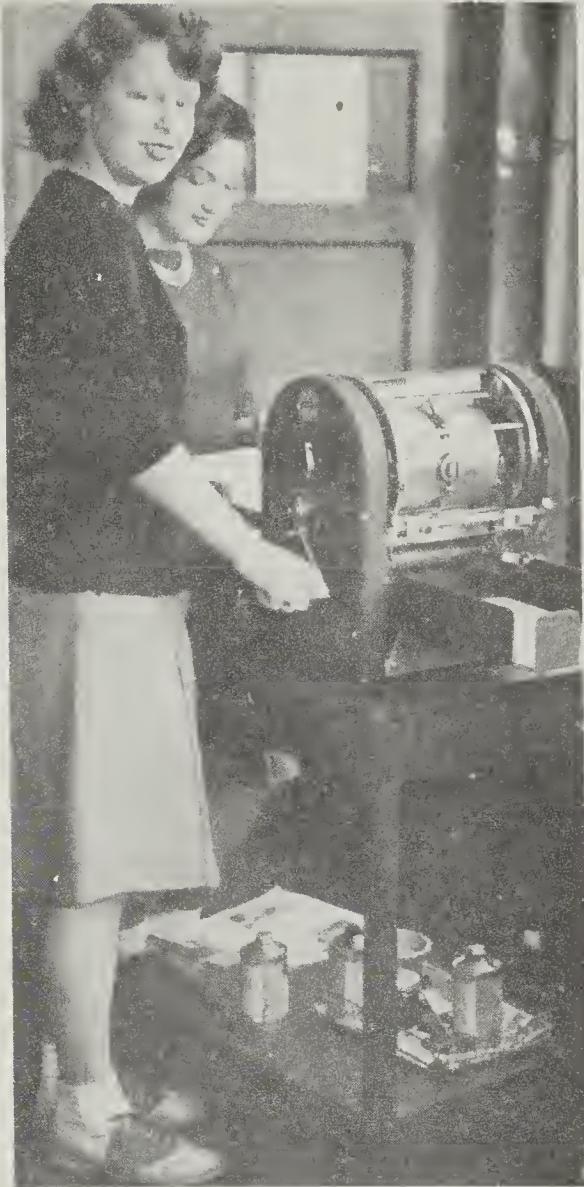

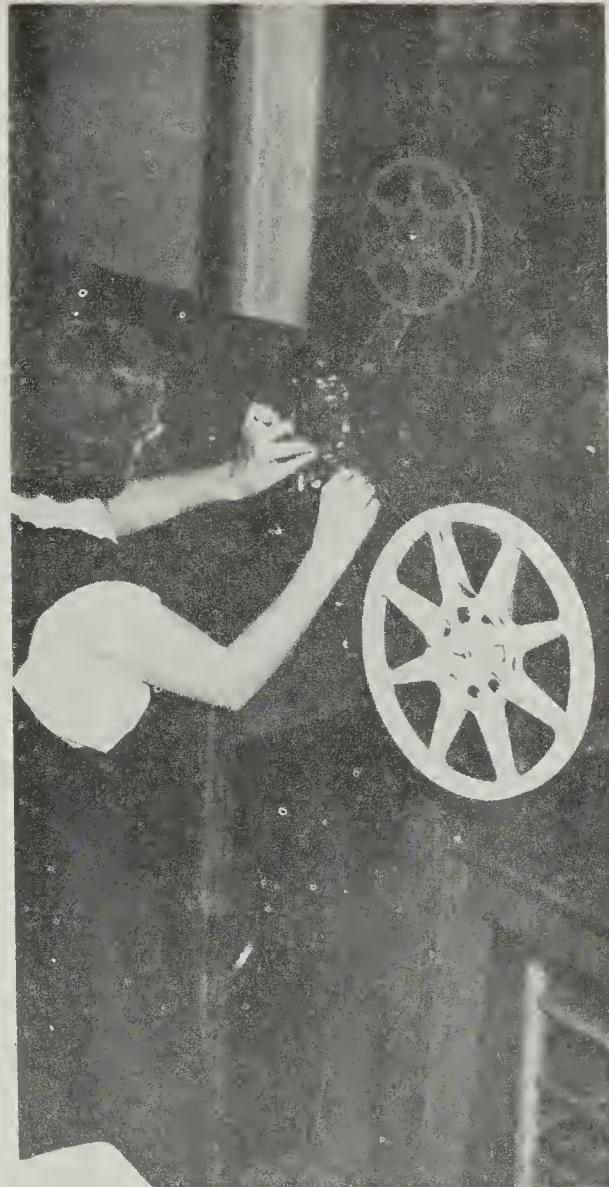

How we watched for Shirley to ring the bell, and were half way to the door before the first sound of the buzzer, Stewart and Bobby raise Old Glory to her lofty post where she waves as a symbol of our country.

The Home Ec girls excluded themselves in the cottage and tempting odors of food often made us wonder why we didn't take Home Ec. Elizabeth Lynn and Gladys Fair are glad they did.

The introduction of educational films to supplement our texts often found us flocking to the library for a showing, conducted by our teacher, with Mrs. Stone acting as trouble-shooter.

In the Commercial Department we often found helpful students mimeographing the numerous reports, forms, and programs which are so necessary around school. Anna Merchant and Martha Keziah take their turn.

The Library girls charge our books, but those little overdue notices often come our way in spite of all we can do. Sara Jane Lightner stamps a book for Dan Shields.

The auditorium looks like this—before we march in for assembly on Thursdays.

Yum! We really enjoyed those good lunches in the school's lunch room.

Lunch hour was a gay time in the auditorium when friends gather and catch up on all the news.

Caught in the act, Harry Sutton!
Yes, students do study sometimes.

Ray Decker catches up on some pleasure reading while Margaret Simpson studies something very intently. Two to one, it is a picture for the annual.

On a sunny day, there is always time for a frolic outside. From top to bottom, John Wood, Durwood Grubbs, and Dave Harris.

Pretty girls are healthy girls!

Remember Rat Week? It was climaxed at a Rat Party at which Charles Johnson and Helen Ritter were crowned King and Queen of the Rats.
